Guest Speaker:
Amy Degenhart LFRAIA

As Director of degenhartSHEDD, Amy has over 30 years of experience designing homes and communities in southeast Queensland. Now, as founder of Bubbl Up and Urban Pure, she is focused on creating tiny-lot and mixed-use housing.

She believes these are key to solving the issue of housing affordability – and doing so in a way that not only benefits buyers' wallets, but also contributes positively to their lifestyles and communities. Indeed, Bubbl Up's award-winning project, ENVI Micro Urban Village, is recognised by both industry leaders and popular media as pioneering proof of the potential of urban infill small-lot housing, and Amy has new micro-lot projects under way in Fitzgibbon Chase and Slacks Creek.

While she has won numerous awards throughout her career, She is most proud of her contributions to the local and design communities, including her role in setting standards for sustainable development, architectural education and local planning through various industry advisory groups.

I'm sure we will all enjoy Amy's address.
